Cool Air Deals Out Deaths, No Relief in Sight

By United Press

A cool air mass cracked the eastern heat wave with death-dealing violence last night, but there was no relief in sight for the sizzling West Coast.

The cooler air into the east on the heels of a widespread storm front that claimed at least five lives, including two National Guardsmen on bivouac at Fort Bragg, N. C.

In the Far West, firemen and volunteers battled hundreds of brush fires in the mountains surrounding Los Angeles yesterday as the mercury soared to 93.

While in the Plains states, flood waters began receding slowly leaving behind a soggy trail of damage estimated at 17 million dollars in southwestern Minnesota alone.

The long-awaited break in the east followed more than a week of record-smashing heat in some sections.

The cooler air sent the mercury tumbling as much as 20 degrees, but it also triggered flooding rains, violent winds and severe electrical storms.

At Fort Bragg, two members of the 30th (Old Hickory) Division of the North Carolina National Guard were killed and 47 men were injured when lightning bolts ripped their bivouac area last night.

Wind gusts up to 80 m.p.h. pounded Charlotte, N. C., causing damages estimated at $50,000 to buildings and planes at Douglas Municipal airport.

Lighting also was blamed for the death of two other persons last night. Otis Dronney, 16, Lynn Mass., was killed by a lightning bolt while swimming at Peabody, Mass. Two companions were burned.

An unidentified man was killed by lightning at Woburn, Mass., after leaving a funeral home where he had attended a wake.

A bus-car "collision" during a blinding rainstorm at Mount Holyoke, N. C., killed Delbert Angle, 16, and injured three other youths and the bus driver.

The United Press counted at least 173 weather deaths since last weekend. There were 122 hot weather drownings, 32 deaths caused by floods, 7 by heat prostration and 12 by lightning.

Streets at Westboro, Mass., were a wash with 11 inches of water after a sudden downpour. At many New England towns, lost utility services temporarily because of downed lines.

The mercury climbed to 91 at Philadelphia before the cool wave arrived, marking the eighth straight day of 90-degree weather there.

As the squall line passed, temperatures dropped from 92 to 70 at Pittsburgh, Mass., in one hour, and dropped to an early morning low of 53 degrees at Cranville, Pa.

In the West, weathermen predicted scattered showers from the plains states to the Pacific Coast, except for California where continued fair and hot weather is expected.

The mercury hit 102 at Bakersfield, Calif., and 110 at Thermal, Calif., yesterday.

A 10-year-old Indian girl, Jennifer Diswood, was killed last night by a lightning during a storm that hit the Navajo reservation near Farmington, N. M.

Despite receding flood waters in the Plains, the situation in some areas remained critical. The big Sioux River climbed to its highest stage in history yesterday, inundating the business section of Sioux Falls, S. D. Serious flooding continued along the river today, covering thousands of acres of crop land.

Pharmacists Seek Endowment Fund

HOT SPRINGS (AP)—The Arkansas Pharmacists' Association will sponsor a campaign for a $100,000 endowment fund for the University of Arkansas School of Pharmacy, retiring APA president L. H. Haines of Marianna announced yesterday.

Haines disclosed plans for the fund in an address to the association's 75th annual convention.

The association elected S. A. Walker of Russellville to succeed Haines as president. Morris Collier of Fayetteville was elected first vice president.

Astronomers Plan to Learn More About Mars

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Science Reporter

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—Astronomers today completed the first step of their cooperative effort to solve some of the mysteries of Mars and voted to tackle the problem again in 1958.

The International Mars Committee voted to continue its worldwide operations with an enlarged administrative setup and to formulate new program for observation of the red planet when it again comes close to the earth next year.

They did this after a three day meeting in which they heard the first results of the observations made last year, when Mars came to within 40 million miles of the globe.

Summarizing these reports, Dr. E. C. Slipher, committee chairman, said the initial work produced evidence that Mars may have weather something like that on earth, but with greater extremes of temperature.

The Martin polar cap, which shows up on many of the thousands of pictures taken, apparently is shaped something like a three decker sandwich, he added, with foundation of surface material, a middle layer of ice and a white cloud in the atmosphere for a top.

The research also suggests, Dr. Slipher said, that something happens on Mars which causes parts of its surface to darken suddenly but temporarily. This could be a moistening of the soil, he added. If so, it means some kind of precipitation which would produce life-giving water for visiting earthlings in the future.

The 1956 efforts also disclosed that the planet has brief periods during which things can be seen on parts of its surface through blue light.

This mysterious "blue clearing" at first was thought to be something that happened simultaneously over its entire surface. But observers last year found that from some points on earth they could see Martian details through blue light when observers elsewhere could not.

Research on the kind of life on Mars yielded some new evidence of the existence of organic matter but produced a belief among

Young Mother Leading Authority on 'Wolves'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A young mother here who will be the world's highest paid model—she earned $75,000 last year—also is a leading authority on wolves—Marilyn Monroe.

"I have a lot of trouble with wolves," signed Lois Collins, a former Denver receptionist.

"I'm seeing an analyst about them now. He tells me I'm too naive about men. But I can't help it if I'm too trusting."

"I can't help liking men. I find them much less difficult to get along with than I do other women."

The blue-eyed, convent-reared brunette came here in 1952 to attend a merchandising school but began to pose for magazine

700 Miles Added to Highway System

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—More than 700 miles of roads in 65 counties have been added to the state highway system under provisions of a 1957 act.

The Arkansas Highway Commission took the action at a special meeting at Fort Smith Tuesday and announced it here yesterday.

Eight other counties asked for consideration too long or otherwise undesirable. These eight will be asked to resubmit recommendations.

The 1957 Legislature passed a law authorizing the county judge and legislators in each county to recommend 10 to 12 miles for annexation to the state system. All counties except Jefferson and Yell took advantage of the act.

Local Couple Shaken Up in Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Monts were shaken up about 10:30 a. m. in a 3-vehicle accident on Highway 67 at the State Police Station.

State Trooper Travis Ward said Mrs. Monts was driving the family auto and Mr. Monts was following in a pickup truck. Highway workers flagged a large Alabama transport truck to stop and the two Monts vehicles crashed into the back of the truck, Mr. Ward said.

The pickup careened off the car down an embankment. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Mrs. Monts received lacerations and was badly shaken up. Mr. Monts is not believed injured.

Perscription Glasses Are Perfectly Legal

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The attorney general's office ruled sale of prescription eye glasses is constitutional.

Roy Finch, chief assistant attorney general, said in the opinion that the act does not create a monopoly. Sen. Morrell Gathright of Pine Bluff said he had been asked to determine if a monopoly had been created.

Opponents of the bill—several optical firms—had charged the law would put them out of business. The law restricts the sale of eyeglasses and prohibits such firms from advertising.

South Senators Protest Civil Rights Short-cut

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern senators protesting what they called "legislative lynching" fought today against a parliamentary short-cut in handling the House-passed civil rights bill.

But Republican leader Knowland of California urged the Senate would back him in a move to bypass the Senate Judiciary Committee, where a companion measure has languished for months, and vote to put the House bill directly on the calendar.

If this maneuver succeeds, the legislation will be in a position where any senator can move at any time to call it up for a vote.

Knowland plans to employ a seldom-used Senate rule under which he contends a House passed bill can be placed on the Senate's legislative calendar without being referred to the committee.

But Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Southern opposition, maintains that under the congressional reorganization act all House bills must be sent to committee before Senate.

But Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Southern opposition, maintains that under the congressional reorganization act all House bills must be sent to committee before Senate.

Russell and other Southern Senators have protested that, if successful, the bypass move would mark the start of a "legislative lynching."

Knowland said he didn't know whether Vice President Nixon, the Senate's presiding officer, would make a ruling on the issue or simply put it before the Senate for decision. In any event, any ruling by Nixon be appealed to the Senate itself.

While Knowland said he saw no reason why the issue could not be disposed of during the day, Sen. at Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said in a separate interview "it's anybody's guess" how long the matter will take.

Forest Fire Hazard Films Available

The accumulation of needle leaves and trash in the woodlands of Hempstead, Little River, Howard and other counties since fires have been kept out represents a greater hazard than ever during dry fall days when the wind is high it was stated in Hope yesterday by W. L. Shaddix who represents the film distribution services of the Southern States Forestry Commission, Inc., Birmingham 6, Ala.

Mr. Shaddix, a former teacher of Agriculture, has been visiting schools in this area for the past two or more years to help set up assembly conservation programs.

Teachers this year are being offered a series of movies on woodlands and game preservation without having to make requests each week or month as in the past, Mr. Shaddix said Thursday while in the Star office.

Of course the series for the entire term include motion pictures on other subjects as well as forests—science, travel, accidents, and home beautifying by landscaping are included in the free series furnished by various philanthropic, lumber, insurance and banking groups who pay for the visual aids. One of the movies was made in Sevier County, just north of us here, the visiting forest spokesman further stated here.

"This is a great offer for schools that are not financially able to buy their own film library, and we think that what we help donate in these movies they are even more practical than many which sell for up to $10,000 a library," Mr. Shaddix further said while here.

Lists of the movies with offer also of charts, booklets, and posted signs are being mailed to school authorities throughout this section for the fall-winter term, he further asserted.

Youths Convicted of Motel Slaying

CHICAGO (AP)—Three teen-agers branded as "young rattle-snakes" by a prosecutor have been convicted of the murder of a motel keeper and their punishments fixed at 90 to 110 years in the penitentiary.

A Criminal Court jury convicted the trio yesterday of the murder of Charles Styrsky, 48, owner of a motel in suburban Alsip, on March 8 during an attempted holdup.

The jurors fixed punishment for Robert Maslowski, 16, the triggerman in the robbery, at 110 years imprisonment. David Clark, 15, and Gerald Pelzer, 16, each drew 90 years. All will be eligible for parole after serving a third of their sentences.

The state had asked the death penalty for "these young rattle-snakes" to "teach other young hoodlums on our streets they cannot go out, steal cars, commit robberies and kill people."

President Eisenhower had created the impression at a news conference yesterday that the United States might have reversed its policy on banning tests and might be about to accept a Russian proposal for a test moratorium separated from other major disarmament proposals.

A few hours later, however, the White House explained that the President "did not imply and it was not intended to imply that we would consider suspension of tests in isolation" from other arms control considerations.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said there had been no change in policy.

The President's replies to questions on disarmament caused a stir because two weeks ago he had said the United States could end tests only on assurance that atomic weapons would not be used in future warfare. The measure of this assurance has been widely regarded here as an agreement to stop the production of such weapons and to begin the reduction of atomic weapons stockpiles.

Eisenhower was asked about a two-or three-year moratorium on test explosions, along with establishment of an international commission to manage the agreement, and an inspection system to police it.

"These are hopeful signs, as I see them, and they deserve the most earnest and sympathetic study," the President said. He added that the United States wanted to know "all the details because 'generalization' is one thing, to see how it works is another."

Then, in response to a series of inquiries, Eisenhower made the point that an adequate inspection system to guard against secret testing it might be possible to work out an arrangement for suspending the tests in advance of some other aspects of a disarmament agreement.

He spoke of suspension under a system which would assure the United States and Russia that each knew exactly what the other was doing. Both countries could then use the period of the suspension "to work out something in which we could have real confidence," he said.

U. S. Ready to Accept Plan to Suspend A-Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials said today the United States is prepared to accept suspension of atomic weapons tests only under a first-step disarmament agreement providing also for halting production of nuclear weapons.

U. S. Asks High Court to Void Girard Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department today appealed to the Supreme Court from a decision barring the government from surrendering GI William S. Girard to the Japanese for trial.

A petition to the nation's highest court said the decision by U. S. Dist. Judge Joseph C. McGarrah was "clearly wrong."

The petition said the "public interest in an early disposition of the case" is so great that the high tribunal should act at the earliest convenient date.

The petition was signed by Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell and J. Lee Rankin, solicitor.

The decision to go directly to the Supreme Court came after lengthy conferences between Justice and Defense Department officials over the government's net steps in the case of the soldier accused of killing a Japanese woman.

The Supreme Court has planned to adjourn for the summer next Monday, and Justice Douglas already has left Washington for the West Coast preliminary to a summer tour of the Middle East.

By implication, there was a request in the petition for the high court to handle the case before taking its recess.

The petition noted that an appeal had been filed in the U. S. Court of Appeals here, but said the government wished the Supreme Court to take the case at once so that final decisions

Death Toll in Stony Point Sinking Is 12

BRESE, France (UP)—The abandoned bulk of the tanker Stony Point burned fiercely off this "Land's End" port today, a blazing memorial to 12 seamen killed when it collided early yesterday with the freighter Ioannis.

The Ioannis, a 8,345-ton Greek motor-freighter, limped into Brese under its own power late last night. Harbor firemen helped to quench the fires still blazing aboard.

Rescue vessels from five nations picked up 64 survivors, including 1st Engineer J. Taylor and Chief Mechanic James Triff, both of the Stony Point. Taylor and Triff were the only Americans involved in the wreck.

The 41-man crew of the 10,600-ton tanker—a U.S.-built, Greek-owned, Italian-registered vessel of Liberian registry—abandoned ship a few minutes after the crash. Early today, 24 hours later, it had not yet been possible to get a line aboard the blazing hulk.

The collision was tragically reminiscent of last year's sinking of the Italian liner Andrea Doria, which ran into the Swedish liner Stockholm off the U. S. Atlantic Coast.

The two cargo vessels, the Stony Point heading into the English channel and the Ioannis outbound, reached the "sailors' graveyard" off Ushant island in an early-morning fog.

Radar on the tanker picked up the approaching Greek ship, and Capt. Mario Cappalotto sounded a warning blast on his foghorn. Moments later, both ships altered course—each into the other's path.

The Stony Point was rammed amidships. Its cargo of crude oil from the Middle East splattered over the two vessels and caught fire.

Humphrey Is Making Killing, Gore Declares

By JOE HILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today a steep increase in the value of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's 1953 stock holdings illustrates "who has benefited from Eisenhower administration monetary policies."

"I said before the Finance Committee investigation started that one of our objectives should be to find out who has benefited from these monetary policies," Gore said in an interview. "Here in the secrecy we have a notable example."

Humphrey voluntarily submitted a list of his January 1953 stock holdings to the Senate Finance Committee yesterday. He did not say whether he has retained his major stock holdings of four years ago, when he entered the Cabinet.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) who posed some sharp questions on big federal spending yesterday, planned to pursue the same course today when the Treasury secretary returns for his third day in the witness chair.

Humphrey's statement showed that the time he entered the Cabinet he owned 67,500 shares of M. A. Hanna Co., stock as well as 46,169 shares of other securities, largely in coal and steel. He formerly was president of the Hanna Co.

A computation showed most of the holdings were worth just under seven million dollars in January 1953, and had a quoted value of about $12,000,000 based on yesterday's closing prices. This was an increase over four years of 85 per cent.

In addition, there was a block of stock Humphrey held in Hanna Coal & Ore Corp., but no information was available on the value of this stock in 1953. According to information from brokers, this stock was worth more than two million dollars last April.

News Briefs

LEWISVILLE (AP)—Cecil Jerome, 47, of Shreveport, La., was killed when his automobile crashed into the rear of a tank truck hauling sulphur near here yesterday.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A contract by which Southwestern Gas Electric Co. will purchase power from the Southwestern Power Administration was approved by the Arkansas Public Service Commission yesterday. The purchase of power will be used to rural electric cooperatives in the Bentonville area.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The attorney general's office yesterday ruled constitutional a 1957 act regulating sale of eyeglasses. In reply to a query from State Sen. Merrell Gathright of Pine Bluff, the office said the new law, which created a better legislative controversy, did not create a monopoly.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Rev. T. K. Rucker of Forrest City, Ark., was elected vice chairman of the Southern Baptist Convention's Executive Committee here yesterday.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, President Eisenhower's personal physician, is on a recent tour of the construction of a public hospital in Boston.

Faubus Urges Trailer Width Ban Lifted

By JOE HILL

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus today asked the State Police to permit the movement of over width house trailer on Arkansas highways despite the Highway Department ban on such trailers.

Faubus said that three manufacturers of the wide trailers in Walnut Ridge, Camden and Newport had threatened to move elsewhere unless they obtained permission to deliver the trailers to customers.

The governor, who was scheduled to leave today for the National Governors' Conference at Williamsburg, Va., showed newspapermen copies of opinions from Atty. Gen. Tom Gentry which indicated that a law which forbids the movement of vehicles more than eight feet wide does not apply to house trailers. An opinion by Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett indicates that the matter was up to the Highway Commission.

The Highway Commission has declared that overwidth trailers are "houses" and that they should be moved on trailer trucks. The Highway Department has refused to permit the movement of the trailers by using tow vehicles.

Because of the lack of Highway Department permits, State Police have been stopping the trailers and some of them now are waiting for clearance at State Police checkpoints.

Faubus said that he was asking only that the manufacturers be permitted to deliver the trailers to customers. He said that 29 states permit the free movement without permits of such trailers.

In a letter to the State Police Commission Faubus said: "I would be any recommendation that the commission consider taking the following action: Allow the government of such trailers over the highways of this state on their own wheels pulled by a tractor under the following conditions:

"First: That the trailer is being delivered from the place of manufacture to the destination designated by the manufacturer."

"Otherwise," the petition said, "the overwhelming likelihood is that the United States will be unable to furnish a commitment to Japan for general trading matters. Even though a Japanese government is very desirous of holding respondent's trial without delay and expects him to be turned over promptly."

TV Ruled Out in Committee Hearings

By JOE HILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Speaker Rayburn today ruled out any more radio or television broadcasts of House committee or subcommittee hearings "in Washington or anywhere else."

The speaker's statement at a news conference was aimed primarily at the Committee on Un-American Activities, which admitted TV cameras to its San Francisco hearings this week.

Rayburn had said yesterday it was against his instructions to allow committee hearings to be broadcast or televised.

Committee Chairman Walter (D-Mo.) however, said in San Francisco that he did not think the speaker's ruling in the last Congress carried over into this one. White also said he had not been advised officially of Rayburn's statement.

Rayburn, asked about this at a news conference today, replied: "There will not be any more House committee hearings or subcommittee hearings, in Washington or anywhere else, televised or broadcast by radio."

Second: That the movement is to be made only by authorized personnel sufficiently bonded and insured and using skilled drivers."

Faubus frequently has criticized some policies of the Highway Department.

The Legislature passed a bill permitting the movement of wide trailers by tow vehicles, but the measure was vetoed by Faubus. Since that time, the three manufacturers have threatened to move to Texas the governor said.

The governor yesterday spent his first full day at the office since he underwent minor surgery at Hot Springs two weeks ago.

Faubus yesterday allotted $11,000 from his emergency fund to help pay National Guardsmen for special duty during recent floods.

 do in the figure field." She married and divorced a young actor shortly after arriving here. Now she supports a 3-year-old son, Michael, and shares an East Side apartment with her younger brother, who attends Columbia University.
 Like Jayne Mansfield, Marilyn Monroe and Marie Wilson, Lois hopes to graduate from modeling to film work. She is studying acting at nights.
 On the subject of wolves, she observed:
 "In the business I'm in I have to be very careful. The wolves in Manhattan come in all ages. Some are nicely treacherous — and some are just treacherous."
 "First, there are the older wolves — 60 to 70 or more. They are usually married millionaires who try to seduce their youth by capturing a model," she said.
 "Then there are the perennial playboys — actors and wealthy businessmen — who make a game out of trying to date every new girl who comes to town.
 "Then there are the middle-aged wolves on expense accounts who use a girl as if she were a watch charm. They are insecure in themselves, and think being seen with a pretty girl will help them make a big impression."
 What about the poor but honest young wolf?
 "I hope to meet one sometime," said Lois, "but it wouldn't hurt if he had just a little bit of money. What I really want most in life is to marry and have a happy home."
 The trouble is that most of the wolves she meets already have happy homes — so happy they can't stand the job of staying in them at night.

Power Firm Accused of 'Misleading'

By JOHN H. KAMPS
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) today accused the Idaho Power Co. of "misleading" and "misrepresenting" its plans for three dams in Hells Canyon.
 Jackson said in a speech prepared for the Senate that Congress should "right the wrong at Hells Canyon" by authorizing a federal dam which would flood the sites of the three private utility projects in the Snake River along the Idaho-Oregon border.
 He spoke in debate on a bill which would authorize construction of one of the highest dams in the world in the deepest canyon on the continent. The Senate debate is the latest clash in the private vs. public power fight. The Eisenhower administration opposes the bill.
 Jackson said a federal Hells Canyon dam would produce twice as much power as the three dams which Idaho Power Co. is building under a Federal Power Commission license.
 "America cannot afford underdevelopment of her resources at any time, let alone when the Soviet Union is attempting to overtake us industrially by the mid-1970s," Jackson said.
 Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), a spokesman for Republican opponents of the bill, told the Senate yesterday he believes the three private dams would make an equal contribution to national defense.
 Jackson charged Idaho Power Co. had "misled the taxpayer, misled the Federal Power Commission and misled the Congress."
 "At the very time the private power company was bragging it would build its low dams at Hells Canyon without cost to the taxpayer, it already had applied for a fast tax writeoff," Jackson said. The FPC went for it hook, line and sinker.
 The FPC went for it hook, line and sinker.
 The FPC issued a construction license to the Idaho firm on grounds the three dams would be built "without expense to the United States," Jackson said. Later, he added, the company obtained tax writeoff certificates from the Office of Defense Mobilization.
 The tax writeoff was discussed heatedly yesterday after the Senate began debating the bill, which is similar to one it rejected by a 10-vote margin last year.
U. S. Plans Next Step in GI Case
By JOHN A. HARRIS
 WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. authorities decide today on their next legal move in the complex case of William S. Girard, the GI accused of fatally wounding a Japanese woman.
 The government already has filed formal notice of an appeal from the ruling Tuesday by Federal Dist. Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy that Girard cannot be tried by Japan.
 But in filing the appeal notice, U. S. Atty. Oliver Gasch left open the exact route of appeal — whether to the Court of Appeals or to the Supreme Court. The problem was discussed yesterday by lawyers from the Defense and Justice departments.

Guards Paid for Work During Flood

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — Gov. Orval M. Faubus set aside yesterday $11,000 to pay National Guardsmen he called out during the recent floods.
 The money will come from his emergency fund.
 The allocation leaves only $1,000, which may be required for payment of several bills contracted by the state Civil Defense office for flood relief work.
 Faubus called out 17 guard units for flood work from May 22 to June 5, which included 85 officers and 750 enlisted men.
 Since the estimated cost of feeding and paying the guardsmen came to $18,000, the governor's proclamation authorized the State Military Department to pay the difference with its regular operating funds.

Firms Take Gas Rate to Court

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — Six objectors to a $117,000 a year industrial rate increase for Fort Smith Gas Corp. took their case from Pulaski Circuit Court yesterday.
 The six users from the Fort Smith area appealed from a Public Service Commission order granting the increase and asked the court to order a rehearing by the PSC.

Buhl Has an Explanation
for Victories

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Bobby
Buhl, Milwaukee Braves' right-hander, has a surprising explanation for his 72-win record and string of three straight four-hit victories.

"It just happens to be throwing what the hitters aren't looking for," he said last night after his latest four-hitter, a 6-0 shutout over the New York Giants.

"There's a very fine line between success and failure in this business," he continued.
"It's like cat and dog out there. If the hitters guess right, you don't last long. You can be searingly hot and well and then all of a sudden the root can hit."

Cards Were in Same Spot Year Ago But Lost

By The Associated Press

Okay, so the St. Louis Cardinals look great, just had a game out of the National League lead. But you've got to split the credits between a long streak and a short memory.

They hustled to 20 victories in the last 27 games, winning 13 of the last 16, and jumped from sixth, 8 1/2 games behind, to within seven percentage points of the first-place Milwaukee Braves. Trouble is, they were only three points out of the lead at this stage a year ago—then went into a late-June swoon that dumped them out of the race for a fourth-place finish.

17 games behind.

The Redbirds moved in on the Braves last night, sweeping Pittsburgh 5-2 and 5-1 in two-night doubleheader as Milwaukee's Bob Buhl cut the Braves' skid at three games with his third consecutive four-hitter in a 6-0 victory over the New York Giants.

Cincinnati ended its four-game slump, coming from behind on home runs to beat Brooklyn 4-3, leaving the Redlegs and Dodgers two games behind with the Brooklins in third place by two percentage points. Philadelphia slipped to fifth, 2 1/2 behind, with a twin loss at Chicago 9-0 and 4-3.

In the American League, Chicago's White Sox held on to a 2 1/2-game lead with a 3-1 decision at Baltimore after the second-place
New York Yankees had upped their winning streak to six games with a 10-2 breeze against Detroit. Third-place Cleveland lost 6-0 at Boston. Kansas City joined Baltimore in sixth place, rallying in the ninth to defeat Washington 6-3.

Sam Jones won his fourth in the Cardinal opener, striking out four and limiting the Bucs to only four hits after the first inning. The Cards broke a 2-all tie with three in the seventh. Noble Landrith's double drove home the winner and Joe Cunningham then packed it away with a two-run pinch homer as Ron Kline lost his 10th.

Wally Moon swatted a two-run homer as the Redbirds scored three in the nightcap first against Bob Purkey. Stan Musial hit his 16th homer and stretched his hitting streak to 19 games as young Lindy McDaniel won his seventh.

Buhl got a quick lead as Henry Auron matched Yankee Mickey Mantle for the major league homer lead with his 19th in the third inning. Wes Covington added a three-run homer in the fifth.
Rubeen Combs, who has won nine,
lost his fourth.

Both Redleg homers were two-run jobs in the seventh, with Bob Thurman delivering his fourth pinch-hit shot ahead of Don Hoak's clinch. Tom Acker won his seventh, shutting out the Brooks until they scored three in sixth, two on Elmer Valo's home run.

Ernie Banks and Walt Moryn, each belting two home runs for the day, connected for successive walkoffs in the nightcap eighth to win for young Moe Drabowsky.
Rookie Dick Drott won his sixth with a three-hitter and eight strikeouts in the opener.

Two walks and RBI singles by Jim Rivera and Bubba Phillips produced two second-inning runs for the White Sox, who were outright 9-6. Bob Keegan won't. Art
Ceccarelli was the loser.

The Yankees went on a 15-hit tear against seven-game winner
Duke Maas and two Tiger reliefs, with Yogi Berra hitting a three-run homer and Gil McDougall poking a two-run home run.
Tom Sturdivant won his sixth.

Frank Sullivan blanked the Indians on five hits, beating Mike Garcia as the Red Sox, who had lost four in a row, scored four in the fourth, two on Frank Mat-son's double, Jimmy Piersall and Sammy White homered for Boston.

Frank Trucks won his sixth in victory for the A's, breaking a 3-all tie with an RBI single. Ex-Yankee Billy Martin then hit a two-run homer.

Bonus Pine Seedling Plan Discontinued

Due to the popular demand for pine seedlings and the additional seedlings needed for the Soil Bank tree planting program in Arkansas, International Paper Company will discontinue its "bonus" seedling program in this area effective with the 1937-38 planting season.

During the past seven years this program has been in operation a total of 12,882,000 seedlings were given free of charge to farmers and other small landowners in Arkansas. Hempstead County landowners received 990,000 of this amount.

"Our 'bonus' seedling program in addition to our program for school groups, was originally developed to provide a stimulus to farmers and other landowners in starting their own tree planting program," according to Mr. J. S. Martin, International's local representative. "With the gift of several thousand pine seedlings the landowners usually purchased a similar number on their own. Now that tree planting is being so widely undertaken by landowners in this area plus the interest built up by the soil bank tree planting program, we feel that our 'bonus' seedling program has served its original purpose. We also do not want to create any shortage of seedlings for farmers through our purchases."

Mr. Martin also praised the cooperation of the public agents in this area with International Paper Company. "Without the excellent cooperation of the Soil Conservation Service, Extension Service and State Forestry Commission personnel, the program would not have been so widely accepted by landowners. This is a very good example of how cooperation can pay off to accomplish a program from which everyone benefits. The seedlings were grown at the Bluff City Nursery operated by the State Forestry Commission, purchased by the company, distributed by company employees and State and Federal personnel, and the planting program promoted by all concerned. Many small tree farms in this area were begun as a result of this program.

Within the limitations of seedlings available, International Paper Company will continue to sponsor its free seedling program for school groups such as 4-H Clubs, FFA and NFA School Groups and Boy Scouts. Youth groups interested in obtaining these free seedlings should write to Mr. J. S. Martin, International Paper Company, P. O. Box 5311, Camden, Arkansas.

Former Yale Grid Great Succumb

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Yale football great Thomas Albert Dwight (Tad) Jones died yesterday.

Former All-American quarterback, he left one of the most remarkable coaching records in Yale history—87 wins, 16 losses and four ties.

He retired in 1927 after nine years of coaching to devote his time to the industrial coal and oil firm that bears his name.

Jones was a Waller Camp selection for All-America in 1907, his senior year. His 1923 team was Yale's last unbeaten and untied team.

House Okays State Flood Work Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Arkansas dams for which dedication ceremonies were held last week were among projects for which appropriations were listed in the $814,812,028 Public Works bill which yesterday passed the House and was sent to the Senate.

Under the House bill, $1,700,000 would be allocated for construction on Greer's Ferry Dam near Heber Springs on the Little Red River. For the Dardanelle Dam on the Arkansas River near Dardanelle, the measure provides $800,000 in addition to a $65,000 carryover.

Other appropriations affecting Arkansas include: Arkansas River bank stabilization, $1,300,000 for construction and $50,000 for planning permanent improvements.

Beaver Dam, $250,000 for planning. Chan leaves, $210,000 for construction. Ouchita River channel, $150,000 for planning. Bull Shoals, $110,000 for construction of additional power units. Red River levees, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas, $300,000 for construction.

Table Rock Dam, on the White River in Missouri, near the Arkansas line, $17,000,000 for construction.

Beauf and Tensas Rivers drainage, $550,000.

The bill also contains proposed appropriations of $10,300,000 for three big dams on the Arkansas River or its tributaries in Oklahoma.

Farmers Vote on Market Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers vote today on marketing quotas on the 1938 wheat crop in a referendum that could affect the future of federal crop controls.

The quotas—now in effect for the fourth consecutive wheat crop—require approval of at least two-thirds of the growers voting. Polling places were provided by the Agriculture Department in local areas in the 36 commercial wheat producing states.

Quotas would limit sales to the amount of wheat grown on a farm's acreage, allotment. Excess sales would be subject to a penalty tax of around $1.05 a bushel.

The referendum comes at a time when government crop controls are under attack by Secretary of Agriculture Benson. He has told congressional committees as well as farm and city audiences that the controls and price supports for major crops are not working to stabilize production and prices.

Benson, however, has expressed no view on how farmers should vote on the wheat controls.

But the secretary's criticism of controls in an appeal for their elimination has been countered with a warm defense of controls by the National Farmers' Union, farm organization which has strong memberships in northern Great Plains wheat areas. It has conducted a vigorous campaign in behalf of the quotas.

Should farmers approve the program, the union would interpret this, its leaders said, as a strong indication that wheat growers disagree with Benson. But rejection of the quotas might well be taken by Benson backers as evidence that grain producers agree with him.

Because of this situation, congressional farm leaders were watching the referendum.

Wheat farmers have never turned down quotas. In a similar referendum a year ago, 87 per cent voted for them for this year's crop.

Stay Within Budget, Post Office Told

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today told the Post Office Department today to curtail some of its mail services and live within its reduced funds to avoid repetition of the fiscal debacle of the spring of 1937.

It cut 10 1/2 million dollars from the department's request for an extra 13 1/2 millions to supplement a previous appropriation of $3,182,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Indications were the House would go along with the committee's recommendations when it considers the new money bill next week.

Postmaster General Summerfield told the committee some service curtailments would be put into effect if the entire request were not granted. The committee said some of the curtailments seem to be "very desirable" and should have been ordered before now.

It said it could see "no substantial reason why second-class publications and third-class bulk mailings should not be required to be zoned in the face of a stated savings to the government of five million dollars."

It also increased the delivery allowance increase.

John Edgar Hoover was known as "Alvin Karpis" in 1934. It has not changed.

Presley's Song Writers in Competition

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jerry Lieber and Mike Stoller, the song writers for Elvis Presley, have been in friendly competition ever since they met Jerry, the eager, aggressive member of the team, is always reporting an unusual experience that has happened to him, only to have Mike top him.

When Mike went to Europe with his new bride, Jerry took a trip to Mexico for some deepsea fishing. His boat ran out of gas and he was adrift for days under dangerous circumstances.

After the rescue, Jerry could hardly wait to tell Mike the story. "This time he can't top me," declared Jerry, and he went to New York to await Mike's return.

"I've got a sea story that'll curl your ears," Jerry told his partner cagely.

"Wait a minute," Mike said, and he told of his own voyage — the last for the Andrea Doria.

"Now what was your story?" Mike asked.

"Oh, forget it!" Jerry snapped.

One of the ringdancers at Lena Horne's triumphant opening at the Coconut Grove was Sam Goldwyn. Since he and his wife seldom make the interies, you can bet he has Lena in mind for "Porgy and Bess." And why not? She acts up a storm on the night club floor, putting more believability into each chorus than most younger singers can manage in a whole evening.

How's this for eating: Harry Belafonte, Porgy; Lena Horne, Bess; Sammy Davis Jr., Sporting Life.

Until recent years, it was the postal service that would persist through rain, hail, gloom of night, etc. Now that can be applied to TV film companies.

Last week, a burning building got out of hand on the Republic set of "State Trooper." The building burned to the ground, but that didn't stop the filmsters. While firemen were still spraying the ruins, the company set up a scene 100 feet away and continued shooting.

A peek at the new product..... "Love In The Afternoon" is gay, saucy fun with more real laughs than a film has had in years..... "Island In The Sun" tries to cover too much ground..... "A Face In The Crowd" goes too far overboard in showing the meanness of humans. It is overacted, over-directed and overdrawn. The Broadway characters of "Sweet Smell of Success" are also mean, but they don't go quite so far overboard.

TV Viewers to See More Old Movies

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the old movies are a boon to inveterate TV viewers in this dull summer season.

To be perfectly fair about it, there are some dreadful old movies. They don't seem to have quibbled much over authenticity when making movies in Hollywood back in the 1930's.

But there was plenty of fun — and, thanks to TV, there's still fun.

Probably I'm getting old, or jaded, but it seems to me they don't make movies these days as uncritically comic as "Bringing Up Baby," starring Cary Grant and Katharine Hepburn (vintage 1938).

Broad, yes. Slapstick, definitely. But very fast. They pulled out all the stops and let her roar. Impassable and even impossible, it doesn't especially matter. Hepburn and Grant and Charles Ruggles and Barry Fitzgerald and May Robson seemed to be having a good time. So I had a good time too.

Perhaps the best thing about an old movie on TV is that you don't anticipate much good in it. You suspend hope before you turn it on, and so you suspend your critical faculties. Thus, whatever so old movie comes as a pleasant surprise.

Whether or not you've seen the movie before doesn't much matter. In fact, I seldom can remember whether I've seen it.

Moss to Increase Welfare Checks

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Overall aid to each aged and blind welfare recipient will be increased $13 to $14 a month with checks to be mailed out July 1, Asst. Welfare Commissioner A. J. Moss said yesterday.

Only about $4 will be in cash with the remainder in medical benefits voted by the 1957 legislature, Moss said.

The current monthly payment averages about $33.

Moss said the state has about 78,000 cases on its welfare rolls. The total includes about 53,000 old age cases.

Lightning Kills Two, Knocks Over Others

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP) — Lightning struck twice within 10 minutes, killed two National Guardsmen and knocked over soldiers "like bowling pins" on this Army paratrooper base last night.

The base hospital called in off-duty personnel to handle the 48 patients who poured in for treatment for five or six hours after the fierce electrical storm swept across Ft. Bragg. Field aid stations gave first aid treatment on the spot.

Units of the 20th Old Hickory Division of the North Carolina National Guard bore the brunt of the storm's attack. The 8,000 paratroopers were encamped for summer training in a wooded area 10 miles west of the main portion of the base.

Striking at supertime, the lightning skipped around the bivouac area as many of the soldiers stood in chow line, mess kits in hand.

First mechanized troops in the U. S. Army were in 1899 when several units were mounted on bicycles. Then came automobiles, tanks and, today, paratroop planes.

Attorney for Hoffa Asks for a Delay

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa's lawyers tried today to win at least a week's continuance in the bribery-conspiracy trial of the Midwest Teamsters boss.

They sought the delay at a morning hearing before the U.S. Court of Appeals. Meanwhile, Hoffa's trial remained in recess in U.S. District Court until late today. It was indicated selecting the jury would run into next week, if the trial is allowed to proceed.

The 44-year-old Hoffa and a fellow defendant, Hyman F. Fishback, Miami attorney, are charged with plotting to plant a New York attorney on the staff of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, allegedly to feed inquiry secrets to Hoffa.

Edward Bennett Williams, Hoffa's chief counsel, and Daniel B. Maher, Fishback's attorney, brought the delay motion to the Appeals Court. They contended Hoffa was being denied adequate legal representation because Williams until recently was working on another case.

That case was Williams' effort to win a new trial in New York for gambler Frank Costello on

Court Told About Pistol Whipping

JACKSON, Miss., (AP) — A 49-year-old Arkansas "floater" threw up his hands over his head in a futile attempt to protect himself from a fatal pistol-whipping here June 11, a circuit court witness testified today.

The testimony came in a hearing which Howard DeFord, Muskogee, Okla., and pretty Mary Kay Smith, 32, Dallas, Tex., ask to be freed under bond on murder charges filed against them in the death of Jack Holt, Little Rock.

The hearing was expected to continue until late afternoon. DeFord and Miss Smith have said Holt "rooked" them of $7,000 in a whisky deal, Holt was beaten about the head at a filling station here and his body dumped on a lonely road west of Jackson.

Robert Johnson, attendant at the service station, testified he saw DeFord hit Holt "three or four times before he hit him that hard blow" with the pistol. Asked what Holt did then, Johnson said "he wasn't hardly able to do any thing."

Miss Smith, a blonde with a pug nose and her hair tied up in a braided bun, sat with the stocky, balding DeFord during the testimony.

Mrs. W. G. Hall, who was in the garage at the time, told of hearing "moans and groans" after the beating.

Dog Racing Track Operating at Loss

WEST MEMPHIS, (AP) — Southland Racing Corp. is operating at a loss, Manager Frank Hobbs is reported even though the dogs track's taxes are running higher than during the first meet last fall.

Hobbs said that officials of the corporation are making a study to determine what future operational dates would be more feasible.

According to Revenue Department records, the track has paid the state $75,070 in taxes through Saturday night, the 28th day of the current meet. The state tax take for the 40-day meet last fall was $113,625. Taxes are based on a percentage of the mutual handle.

Attendance has been 1,900 per night with average totaling about $51,600.

The meet ends June 19. Additional racing dates, from July 1 through August 27, have been approved by the state Racing Com-

DOROTHY DIX

Middle-Aged Romeo Leaves Wife For Young Divorcee

Dear Dorothy Dix: After 30 years of happy marriage, my husband fell in love with a married woman of 28. She obtained a divorce and custody of her 8-year-old child. My husband finally persuaded me to divorce him, and they were married.

Do you think they will be happy? There's a difference of 25 years in their ages, he must commission, but Hobbs indicated that Southland may request fall dates instead.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm an only child of 15. Perhaps this is the reason my parents haven't been too strict with me, over looking imprudence and downright freshness. Although I'm pleasant to outsiders, I can't seem to get boy friends. All the other girls my age date.

Dear Gloria: A disposition can't be turned on and off like a faucet. Your nastiness at home is bound to percolate through at times; perhaps some of your friends have seen you at your worst. If you're out to win people, start with your family.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Although my boy friend and I are of the same faith, he isn't as religious as I am. He goes to church with me and promises to continue when we're married but my family says he won't.

Dear Gail: Your folks, by their intolerance, aren't setting a good example for the boy. They may be regular Sunday church-goers but they still must learn that religion goes on the other six days of the week as well. Continue your own good example and encouragement, and your friend won't fall by the wayside.

CLUBS

Hopewell Home Demonstration Club met for its June meeting in the home of Mrs. G. W. Wiggins. Canning of fruits and vegetables were discussed, and new time tables for pressure cooking food and freezing food was passed to the members by Mrs. Lorraine B. Wylie, Home Demonstration Agent.

Mrs. John Keek gave an informative talk on keeping ourselves well informed about national affairs and all current events.

Mrs. Jack Taylor, Home Management Leader, explained how to use your credit intelligently.

The club's project for the year has been completed. Material was bought and eighteen pair of pajamas were made by the members and are being sent to the State Sanatorium at Booneville.

The July meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Ned Purdie. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Victory A discussion on Using Our Credit intelligently was led by Mrs. Wayward at the regular monthly meeting of the Victory Home Demonstration Club at the home of Mrs. Jack Sumpter. Mrs. Robert Cash gave a report on gardening.

Mrs. Sumpter gave the devotion, "When You Are Afraid" taken from the 40th Psalm followed with prayer by Mrs. William Schooley.

Senate Gives Ike Foreign Policy Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Strong bipartisan approval of U. S. membership in the International Atomic Energy Agency has given President Eisenhower another foreign policy victory in the Senate.

Democrats slightly outnumbered Republicans in the 67-13 vote by which the Senate last night ratified the IAEA treaty and approved U. S. participation. The proposed agency is an outgrowth of Eisenhower's "atoms-for-peace" proposals in 1953. No House action is necessary.

Democrats also outnumbered the Republicans in a 55-31 vote rejecting an amendment by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) which would have denied Eisenhower authority to provide fissionable materials to the agency without prior congressional consent.

With Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), the majority leader, supporting the President all the way, 35 Democrats voted for ratification and 31 opposed the Bricker proposal.

Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) and 31 other Republicans supported ratification. But 18 Republicans voted against Knowland—and the President—in favor of Bricker's proposed curb.

Nine Democrats and 10 Republicans opposed ratification of the treaty.

The Senate action, which will be implemented by legislation now pending before the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee, clears the way for the President to make agreements with the international agency when it is formed. Inter in the year. Under these agreements uranium 235 may be made available for worldwide distribution for power and other peacetime uses.

U. S., British Arms Envoys Go Into Huddle

LONDON (UP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called in U. S. Disarmament Delegate Harold E. Stassen for personal consultations today amid reports of a major Anglo-American difference over halting nuclear tests.

Macmillan invited Stassen and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd to dinner at No. 10 Downing street tonight. It will be the prime minister's first direct talks with Stassen since the five-power disarmament conference opened.

Lloyd, who has taken over as Britain's delegates to the talks, scheduled an afternoon conference with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valentin Zorin.

The Macmillan-Stassen meeting coincided with reports that Britain has raised sudden new objections to the new U. S. disarmament plan on grounds it would jeopardize the entire British defense plan.

Informed sources said Britain's new reliance on a "nuclear deterrent" defense strategy had thrown a hitch into Western negotiations for a solid front, disarmament plan.

The West has always demanded that Russia stop producing new nuclear weapons as part of the price of suspending atomic tests. Britain now cannot agree to such a halt without endangering Macmillan's defense plans, sources said.

The sources said reports from British atomic scientists caused the government to balk at a reported American move to halt the production of fissionable material for nuclear weapons. The scientists said Britain is short of such materials.

Diplomats feared the Soviets would make the most of exploiting such a difference between Britain and the United States, particularly since the British would be backtracking from a previous Western demand.

For this reason, the sources said, the new American disarmament plan is being withheld from the U. N. disarmament subcommittee while Western delegates try to find a suitable compromise. The five-power group meets tomorrow.

The current hydrogen bomb tests in Christmas Island have dipped deeply into Britain's current supplies of nuclear fuel. And British atomic reactors are a long way—possibly three to five years—from completing the sizeable nuclear-bomb stockpile the new British defense policy demands.

On the other hand, the United States is reported determined to push for such a prohibition. The American nuclear weapon stockpile has been reported at "sufficient" level for at least two years.

Court Ruling Already in Use in Red Hearing

By VERNON BAKER

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A 42-year-old San Francisco radio broadcaster today used the recent Supreme Court decision in the Watkins case as the sole basis for refusing to answer questions concerning Communist party affiliation asked by the House Un-American Activities subcommittee.

Louis Earl Hartman read a seven-point statement to the subcommittee outlining his objections to questions asked by subcommittee counsel Frank Tavenner concerning Hartman's alleged association with a professional cell of the Communist party in Berkeley, Calif.

Hartman was careful to outline to committee Chairman Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) that he was not relying on the non-incrimination privileges of the Fifth Amendment.

Hartman objected to the very first question—one concerning his education other than college—asked by Tavenner. Hartman stated that the question was "not pertinent or relevant to any legitimate, valid, definite legislative purpose and thus violated by rights under the due process clause of the Fifth Amendment as held by the United States Supreme Court in the United States vs. Watkins."

He also said in additional points in his objections that the inquiry of the subcommittee was designed solely "for the purpose of exposing myself and others to publicity and ridicule."

He said it was his feeling that the subcommittee was violating its legislative right and was conducting an unconstitutional hearing.

In the last point of his objections he said the hearing inquiries were "constitutional infringements by the legislature into the jurisdiction of the judiciary, which has the sole power under article 3 of the Constitution to place me on trial and inquire into my personal conduct."

Hartman, first witness of the second day of the hearings, was represented by Lawrence Spieser, attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union.

The objections apparently followed as closely as possible the major points disclosed by the majority in Monday's Supreme Court decision which dismissed a contempt of Congress indictment against John T. Watkins, Illinois labor leader.

Tavenner, after Hartman's first objections and after each successive objection by Hartman, was careful to outline what the committee felt was the relevancy and purpose of the question—to gain information to be used by the committee toward legislation to eventually outlaw the Communist party in the United States.

Since 1940 Hartman has had a daily (KCBS) show titled "This Is San Francisco," under the name of Jim Grady. The 15-minute show is a commentary on San Francisco history and culture.

Hartman took the stand after a college professor said he had to drop out of the Communist Party because Red leaders feared he would spill their secrets while he was undergoing psychoanalysis.

Unions Discuss Channeling of Compensation

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A national A.F. of C. economist today questioned the advisability of channeling workers' compensation payments through private insurance companies.

Frank Fernbach of Washington, speaking at the 14th Interstate Conference on Labor Statistics, asked the question: "How much more does it cost to administer workers' compensation payments through private insurance companies than through a state insurance fund?"

Fernbach then added another question: "Why does a worker in Illinois, for example, receive less than a quarter compensation for his wage loss when statutes state that restitution should be two-thirds of his wage loss?"

The average restitution for the nation runs less than 50 per cent, he said.

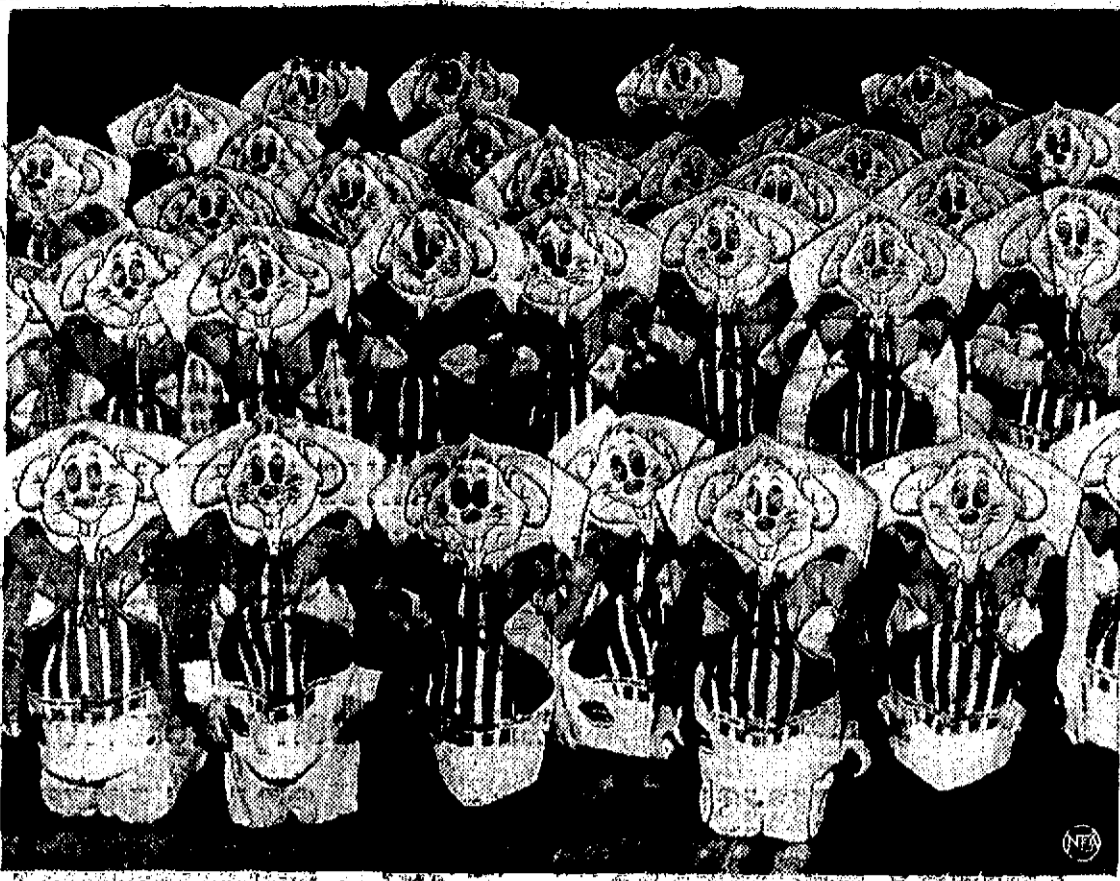

"In fact," Fernbach said, "most states probably don't know what percentage of the premium the employer pays for coverage ultimately reaches the worker—as a benefit."

He said that state are "woefully lacking in workers' compensation statistics in five categories."

He listed the categories as prevention of accidents, improved administration of compensation laws, rehabilitation of injured employees, the payment of workers' compensation benefits in the total social security program and the accomplishment of the purpose of the act in reaching the injured worker.

Fernbach said that the fault was in lack of funds voted by state legislatures and lack of understanding of the program on the part of legislators. He said that states using a state insurance fund know no better in restitution of wages than states which channel employer contributions through private insurance companies.

He also stated that the fault was in the fact that the states were not keeping up today and workers' compensation from the mountain of unemployment.

MICE, MICE EVERYWHERE—The teacher of a Cincinnati, O., fourth grade must have been overwhelmed when the children showed up dressed as "Jag," the mischievous mouse from the Walt Disney movie, "Cinderella." The costumes are made from new dry cleaning bags which will be distributed world-wide to cleaners using a special process. Their inventor, Don Poynter, has previously come up with such items as bourbon toothpaste and do-it-yourself voodoo kits.

Took Advice of Attorney, Brewster Says

WASHINGTON (UP)—Frank W. Brewster testified in his contempt of Congress trial today that he refused to produce records and answer questions before the Senate Investigations subcommittee in January.

Brewster said his attorney, Samuel B. Bassett, told him the subcommittee was going beyond its powers.

Brewster, 60, chairman of the Western Conference of the Teamsters Union also said Bassett advised him subpoenas for the production of union records were so sweeping as to violate the Fourth Amendment guarantees against unlawful search and seizure.

U. S. Dist. Judge J. Sirica, before whom Brewster is on trial without a jury, asked whether his counsel also advised him that if his legal advice turned out to be wrong that Brewster would have to suffer and consequence.

"I believe that he did," Brewster replied. "I'm the one on trial."

"In other words," the lawyer doesn't have to serve the time," Sirica commented.

"I knew the lawyer wouldn't

Fire Guts Buildings Downtown Magnolia

MAGNOLIA (UP)—A wind-whipped fire destroyed two downtown brick buildings here today with the loss estimated unofficially as high as $350,000. Firemen still battled the blaze some eight hours after the flames broke out.

Destroyed were the two-story Gant Building and the smaller Stephens Building, which housed several firms including a furniture store, a restaurant and a small grocery. Several firms operated offices on the second floor of the Gant Building.

No injuries were reported.

Authorities said the fire broke out about midnight in the rear of the Home Furniture Co. which had an estimated $125,000 in stock.

About 2:30 a.m., when firemen thought they were bringing the fire under control, a fresh wind fanned the flames to new heights.

"The probable loss was estimated by a newsmen who questioned businessmen."

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

hive to serve the time," Brewster replied. "He'd get me out in a year or two."

"The maximum penalty for contempt of Congress, upon conviction, is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine."

Manufacturer Cites Need for a Depression

MEMPHIS (UP)—What this country needs is "not a good 5-cent cigar but a good depression," says a Kentucky paint manufacturer.

James Francis (Frank) Kurfess of Louisville said a depression would solve what he termed this country's swing away from "basic values."

Speaking to a leadership seminar of public school teachers at Memphis State College, he said:

"This country is in serious condition," he pointed out, "that although other civilizations, such as Egypt, enjoyed eras of prosperity, they are now decadent."

"Now we have to send people over there with shovels to find any remnant of their civilization. We can go out of existence just like they did—and believe me we are going."

Kurfess also called for fewer "fringes and frills" in education and more basic training.

"It is the simple little tricks that are more profitable in industry than the fringes and frills of so-called life adjustment course."

"No amount of education will ever substitute for the school of hard knocks. But the student fitted

Says Congress to Threaten National Game

WASHINGTON (UP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said today Congress would "threaten the foundations of the national game" if it placed baseball under federal anti-trust laws.

Frick said such action would result in endless lawsuits, "uncertainty and chaos for players and clubs" and public suspicion of the "honesty of a game no longer allowed to regulate itself effectively."

In a statement prepared for a House anti-trust subcommittee, Frick added that if anti-trust legislation were applied to the national pastime:

"I do not see better baseball, or lower admission prices, or better ball parks, or anything better for the fan. In short I see baseball set back 50 years."

Frick was the star witness as the subcommittee again took up its investigation of the status of professional team sports under anti-trust laws. The Supreme Court has ruled baseball is exempt from the Sherman Act to court monopolies but that football and boxing are covered. It has indicated the baseball decision likewise would not carry over to other team sports.

George M. Trentelman, president of the minor leagues, was on call after Frick. He was expected to back up the commissioner's testimony.

Herlong (D-Fla.) previously told the subcommittee the minors would suffer along with the majors if Congress took away baseball's antitrust immunity.

And as for contentions that baseball is "big business," Frick said the gross income of majors and minors last year was about 65 million dollars. He said this was less than half the business of a single

In a prepared statement, Herlong said the minors depend on "public-spirited local citizens," and major league clubs with which they have working agreements, to ease financial strains.

Nearly every club in the minors takes a "substantial loss" each year, he said.

Herlong was called to testify as the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.), resumed hearings into the status of professional team sports under federal anti-trust laws.

Soil Bank Checks Start Moving

WASHINGTON (UP)—Soil bank checks are beginning to move in volume of farmers who retired land from production of winter wheat this year.

Agriculture Department officials said they expected that payments totaling around 100 million dollars would be made to winter wheat growers by July 1.

Growers of both winter and spring wheat signed agreements to retire 12,785,000 acres for payments totaling $230,848,000. Payments to farmers who agreed to retire land from corn, cotton, rice and tobacco will not be paid until late in the summer of early fall.

Field agents first must check farmers to determine compliance with agreements. The checking was done early for winter wheat because this crop is seeded in the fall.

Challenges Claim of Debt Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) today sharply challenged claims of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey that the Eisenhower administration has reduced the national debt and federal spending.

Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, led off the questioning of Humphrey, first witness in the committee's long-heralded investigation of the nation's financial condition.

The Virginian said Humphrey, in his 50-page statement yesterday, stated the administration had cut both the debt and the rate of federal spending.

The facts, Byrd declared, are that the debt has gone up almost nine billion dollars since President Eisenhower took office, and spending has increased five billion since the low point attained by the Republican administration in fiscal 1955.

The secretary's statement said "We have reduced the government debt" and "We have reduced government expenditures."

But he finally conceded today, under Byrd's prodding, that the committee chairman was correct in stating the national debt was increased from 265½ billion dollars in June, 1953, to 274 billion now.

Humphrey said that "over the whole period" the debt has increased and his statement should be corrected on that point. Increased and his statement should be corrected on that point. "In claiming a decrease, he said he meant that the debt now was lower than the high point of 289½ billions in the Eisenhower administration and that the budget surplus in the last full fiscal year, 1956, had brought some reduction.

As to the claimed cut in federal spending, the secretary stuck by his guns.

Byrd said the administration's budget now being considered by Congress for fiscal 1958 should be listed at $73,600,000,000 instead of the usually stated $71,800,000,000. That is because $1,800,000,000 of highway spending included in previous budgets was listed outside the 1958 totals, he said.

Humphrey conceded this, but said even so, the $73,600,000,000 figure was lower than the $74,300,000,000 of fiscal 1953, which he said was the last budget for which the Truman administration was responsible.

Byrd however, asserted it was not fair to compare the fiscal 1953 budget with 1958.

"The Korean War still was on throughout fiscal 1953," he said. "It was a wartime budget. The fiscal 1958 budget is a peacetime budget—the highest peacetime budget in the history of the country."

The Virginian said the Eisenhower administration succeeded in cutting federal spending to $64,600,000,000 in fiscal 1953. But now the trend is sharply upward, he said, with the fiscal 1958 figure nine billions above 1953.

SUBSTITUTE DOCTOR

THE STORY: The fact that he constantly is being compared to Dr. Kurt Lillard makes Dr. Garde feel that he is a "substitute doctor" at the Bayard clinic. Dr. Lillard was convicted of a murder of which many people believe him to be innocent. There comparison between Kurt and Garde is brought home when Garde finds it necessary to tell Mrs. Mabel Ross that one of her twins is mentally retarded.

XVI

The doctor returned to his desk chair and shuffled through the papers on the blotter. "I'm pretty sure of my primary diagnosis, Mrs. Ross," he said quietly; his quiet was the best possible thing for her just then. Emotion was as difficult for her to handle as it would have been for a 16-year old boy. "But there are other doctors more experienced in these things who would tell you better than I could what to do about the situation. I think they may advise you to place Howard in school of some sort where proper care and training will be available to him, where he can be taught such things as he is able to learn."

Her arm tightened about the child. "It's cruel to suggest taking him from me!"

"I don't mean to be cruel. But — look, Mrs. Ross, I've often leaned upon your fence and watched a man training a young horse to jump. He holds a long rein in his hand."

"Oh, that would be Bart Humphrey. Splendid trainer."

The doctor smiled. "I see."

She saw, too. Now she could relax in her chair and sit thinking about the things which she "saw." At last she glanced up at the doctor and said shrewdly, "I'm sorry I was rough on you. You're in quite a spot of your own, aren't you? Here in this office, trying to take Kurt's place."

"Yes," he agreed, "it sometimes looks like a spot. But I think I can take the one I'm in. Someone was needed here, and it's nothing like the spot Lillard's in."

"It was incredible, you know, how they built up that case against him. And I was in a position to know — I blame Valley a great deal. Valley tanfield. If she hadn't meddled — but she definitely did. I daresay it had shocked her fearfully to come home and find little sister planning to marry Kurt. Valley had jilted the man years before, but perhaps had always kept it in mind that she could give in and marry him — once she'd got her fill of being a career woman."

"She wasn't anything like a good sport over the matter, you see. She'd say disparaging things about Nan who is a sweet child, and undoubtedly naive — but the chances were good that Kurt had come to a place where he wanted a 'sweet child' and a naive one! Valley should have kept her hands off. Don't you agree?"

"Since I don't know what she did."

"She made a constant play for Kurt." She looked anxiously across at Garde. "She used little ways and big ones — it's impossible to define these matters to a man. But believe me, she used them all. Valley knew every trick in the bag, when it comes to attracting and fascinating the male creature."

Garde was inclined to agree, though she didn't "like doctors." Valley had made her appeal to him. "Did the means she used work with Kurt?"

"Oh, surely they did! But still he didn't like it that night when I was there, you see. There was a big dance at the club; it was a holiday weekend, and Ross and I happened to be at the table his sleeve and sit dreamy, smiling.

"She was to blame, as well, for the row which Kurt had with the Laurent boy that night; it was just the sort of thing she would do, and I know that Valley had got up and gone somewhere when those pier fights went on to show us Ben trying to kiss Nan."

"I remember the way she came back and said, 'But what happened' and 'Oh, how awful!'"

"And then, of course, three days later when the boy was found dead on the same pier. But Kurt Lillard didn't do it, Dr. Shelton!"

And Mabel Ross thought. . . . Garde rubbed his cold fingertips together and stared at the big, raw-boned woman. Did she really think that Valley had. . . . Such a thing was not possible!

By the middle of June it began to be very hot. Garde brought a augur and a yellow bag of plant food, and the hose, out to the front lawn to attend to that same Valley's trees, which were dying.

When she planted them, he had told her she wasn't going at the thing properly, last week he'd taken a chance to speak the well. And tonight, he decided, he would feed them, and then lay his hose-tape along their roots.

It was hard work and hot work and — reminding himself that this was a small town and, certainly, bare hide was no novelty at the bottom of this same hill — Garde peeled off his shirt and bent his back to the auger.

"What on earth are you up to!" He jumped as if he'd been caught picking a lock. Nan laughed merrily at his confusion and general air of guilt, then came across to look down at his work.

Boy Unconscious for Eighth Day

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Thirteen-year old William Patrick O'Brien remained unconscious at Baptist Hospital here for the eighth straight day.

He was one of three sons of Mrs. Mary Harp, who was found dead at her home June 11. The three boys were found critically wounded and two of them died later in the hospital. All four were shot in the head and Cofone Howard Dishongh said that Mrs. Harp shot the boys as they lay in bed and then killed herself.

The condition of William Patrick is "unchanged," the hospital reported.

Governor Returns to His Office

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus was back in his office at the state capitol this morning "bright and early" and looking rested.

The governor was discharged from a hospital in Hot Springs Sunday where he had a minor operation. His office did not expect him to be back to work for the rest of this week.

Shot Seriously Wounds Boy 6

MAGNOLIA, (AP) — A 6-year-old boy was shot and seriously wounded today while playing with another youngster, Sheriff Claud Linton reported.

Sheriff Linton said that the victim, Ronnie Gurley of Waldo, a few miles north of here, was playing in his home with 7-year-old Mike Brown when the accident occurred.

Coning Gurley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Gurley, was shot in the left side below the heart and the bullet emerged on the right side.

Mr. and Mrs. Gurley were not at home at the time of the accident, the sheriff said.
